

22nd Madeira International Bridge Open

4th-10th November 2019

Wednesday 6th November

Bulletin 2

Day One of The Pairs Begins

Tuesday night saw the opening of the Open Events with the first session of the Open Pairs, the first of three stanzas. 188 pairs amassed to do battle at 20.00 and at the end of the afternoon encounters the first three places were as follows with less than a third of a percent separating them with Iceland ahead of Austria and The Netherlands one behind.

- 1 Magnus Magnusson & Sveinn Eriksson 63.87%
- 2 Yordan Valkanov & Veselein Velischkov 63.78%
- 3 Agnes Snellers & Wubbo De Boer 63.53%

With more than twenty pairs less than 5% behind no one can be complacent about their final position.

There may be some minor technical difficulties in accessing the results on-line, please rest assured these will be ironed out as soon as possible.

The TDs have a few words of advice for you on page 5, both in English and Portuguese.

Social Program

Do not forget to sign up for any of the social events; today there is the traditional dinner at the O Lagar. On Friday there is the choice of three excursions – A Catamaran Trip, A Tour of the South West of the island or a Levada Walk. Full details of these are on page 6.

Tickets for the Closing Dinner on Sunday 10th November are also available.

Please visit the Welcome Desk to purchase tickets or for more information.

This morning at 10.30, Mark Horton will conduct his 'Mark Your Card' to discuss the first session of the Open Pairs in Selvagens 1.

N/S bid to 2♠ on the following auction:

West	North	East	South
1♦	Pass	1♥	1♠
1NT	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	2♣	Pass	2♠
All Pass

When South bid 1♠ this kept E/W out of a spade contract. The play went as predicted and South drifted two down. Interestingly, E/W can actually make 2♠ and had N/S been non-vulnerable, they would have potentially had a good save by sacrificing in 2♠!

2♠ by E/W takes some delicate play because of the bad spade distribution. Assuming East is declarer, he will lose one club and two diamonds and will have to restrict the spade suit to two losers. At some point in the play, he will need to ruff a diamond with the 9♠, forcing South to over-ruff with the ♠10.

♠ —		♠ —
♥ —		♥ —

♠ A872	N W E S	♠ J63

Now East can lead the ♠J from his hand and duck the ♠K if it is covered, unblocking the ♠7 from dummy, end-playing South in the trump suit. (Declarer must remember not to undo all his good work by failing to unblock the ♠7.) If South declines to cover, the jack wins and the process repeated. Ouch!

West	North	East	South
—	—	—	Pass
1♦	2♣	2♠	Double
3♥	4♦	All Pass

E/W wandered into a making Four Diamond contract which made without too much trouble for +130. Playing matchpoints the better contract is 3♠ for +140. It is often better to raise partner's suit with three card support (no matter how much you would like to be declarer), especially when you have a singleton. South has implied that he has hearts on the bidding, so West has muddled the waters here a little with his 3♥ bid, making it very difficult for East to now bid 3♠ and hit the top spot.

A Word from Your TDs

Welcome. We look forward to helping you all have an enjoyable, fair game every day.

Here are a few pointers for negotiating the different playing methods and styles.

Your opponents only need to alert a NT bid if it is NOT balanced, regardless of the range.

They should only alert a suit bid if it is not natural e.g. 2♥ if it is hearts and a minor.

Of course, ALL artificial bids must be alerted.

If you want to know a bid's meaning please ASK.

Nothing needs to be announced.

On Friday we had cause to make a ruling we hate – we gave the worst score to BOTH sides. If we cannot be clear what has happened because the four players do not cooperate with each other or the TD, we have no choice. So if you need to explain something to the TD, we ask you to trust us and the process we follow. We promise you will get a chance to have your say.

And our first and final bridge tip: you need your partner to play well - so always be nice! (even if you think he does not deserve it.) Thank you very much.

Uma palavra dos seus TDs

Bem-vindo, estamos ansiosos para ajudá-lo a divertir-se com um jogo agradável e justo.

Aqui estão algumas dicas para se entender com os adversários relativamente a métodos e estilos de jogo.

Os adversários só precisam de alertar vozes de ST que mostrem mãos desbalanceadas, independentemente do intervalo de pontos. Também só precisam de alertar uma voz em naipe se esta não for natural p.ex: 2♥ natural são alerta mas se mostrar ♥ e um menor qualquer tem de ser alertado.

E claro, todas as vozes artificiais devem ser alertadas.

Se precisar saber o que uma voz quer dizer, PERGUNTE.

Nada precisa ser anunciado.

Sexta-feira tivemos de tomar uma decisão que odiamos - dar um mau resultado a ambos os lados. Se não conseguirmos perceber do que aconteceu, porque os quatro jogadores não cooperaram entre si ou com o TD, não temos escolha. Se precisar da nossa ajuda, confie em nós e na metodologia que seguimos. Pode ter a certeza de que terá a oportunidade de contar a sua versão dos factos.

Finalmente deixamos-lhe uma primeira e última dica de bridge: Precisa que o seu parceiro jogue bem e a seu favor, portanto seja sempre amável com ele (mesmo que ache que não merece). Muito Obrigado.

The Wonder of Wuhan

Mark Horton

Bulletin number 9 of the 2019 World Bridge Championships carried an announcement about IPBA awards for play in online events.

FUNBRIDGE and the WBF are sponsoring three new IBPA awards for play in online events: Best Declarer Play, Best Defence and Best Bid Hand. The agreement is that these awards will carry the same cash value to journalists and players as do the regular annual IBPA awards. Players and journalists are encouraged to submit their award candidates to the IBPA Bulletin for publication. Players may write up their candidate deals themselves, have a journalist write about them or submit them directly to the editor of the IBPA bulletin at: ibpaeditor@sympatico.ca

In addition to the International Bridge Press Association and the World Bridge Federation, FUNBRIDGE has agreements with the European Bridge League, the ACBL, Le Bridgeur and 14 National Contract Bridge Organisations to provide their online tournaments.

Incredibly, a candidate deal was dealt in a Robot tournament on Wednesday night - and the declarer was in Wuhan! Simon Stocken, eager to get his hands (metaphorically speaking) on some cards, had invested US$1.35 to play in an ACBL Robot tournament when this hand appeared on the screen:

This is the deal in question:

Board 2. Dealer East. N/S Vul.

♠ A87432

♣ AJ10

West	North	East	South
Robot	Robot	Robot	Simon

Pass	6♠	Pass	7NT
All Pass
2♦	Game forcing
4NT	RKCB
5♠	2 key cards +♠Q
5NT	Kings?
6♠	No

Simon (no mean Poker player) was holding the South cards and decided to go 'all in' by bidding 7NT. He knew that partner held the ♠KQ and the ♦A, but absent any side kings, must have a little more and if that was in diamonds there would probably be a play for all the tricks.

West led the ♥10 and dummy was a little disappointing:

♠ KQ10
♥ J82
♦ AJ8652
♣ 9

♠ A87432
♥ AK
♦ K3
♣ AJ10

Simon won with the ♥A and cashed five rounds of spades to reach this position:

♥ J8
♦ AJ86
♣ 9

♥ K
♦ K3
♣ AJ10

With a nod to Vienna, he cashed the ♥K and followed it with the ♦K. So far West, who had turned up with a singleton ♠J had pitched a diamond, a heart and two clubs. East, who had three spades, had parted with two clubs and a heart and now discarded a second heart.

At this point, these cards remained:

♥ J
♦ AJ8
♣ 9

♦ Q109
♣ K8

♥ Q7
♣ Q75

♠ 4
♦ 3
♣ AJ10

XXII Madeira Bridge Festival

When Simon cashed the last spade, West had to part with a club and the now redundant ♦8 went from dummy. East could happily part with a club, and then threw a heart when a diamond went to the jack. However, when Simon played the ♦A from dummy, East became the second victim of the non-simultaneous double squeeze. He had to throw a club and declarer played a club to the ace, felling the outstanding honours and promoting the ♣J to glory.

This had been the complete deal:

♠ KQ 10
♥ J82
♦ AJ8652
♣ 9
♠ J		♠ 965
♥ 1093		♥ Q7654
♦ Q10974		♦ —

Predict a Board

Mark Horton

I think it was at the world Championships in Maastricht in 2000 that I came up with the concept of introducing a predict-a-bid feature into the VuGraph theatre. The idea was that every spectator would be given an electronic gadget on which they could try to predict the players' bids on each deal. There would be daily cash prizes for those with the highest scores.

Looking at the deals for the opening session of the pairs, here are my suggestions as to what may happen on three of them:

Board 4. Dealer West. All Vul.

♠ 107	♠ QJ93	♠ 42
♥ QJ864	♥ A10975	♥ 3
♦ Q76	♦ —	♦ J1098432
♣ KJ7	♣ Q1062	♣ 985
	♠ AK865
	♥ K2
	♦ AK5
	♣ A43

Given a free run, N/S should be able to find a route to 6♠. If South opens 2NT and the spade fit is located then the problem might be to stop in time. However, suppose East attempts to throw a spanner into the works (those who suffer from adverse vulnerability syndrome should look away now) by opening 3♦ (I'm assuming North won't open the bidding, but that might not always be the case). Were South to then bid a heavy 3NT North will want to have some methods (using 4♣ as Stayman along with transfers is not a bad idea) but even with no agreements North can bid 4♦ and then go on over South's 4♠.

If South doubles 3♦ North can bid 4♦ (but only if West does not raise).

Although an opening 3♦ will complicate matters I expect more than half the field to reach 6♠. A few might attempt 6NT and at least one pair will go overboard in 7♠.

Board 25. Dealer North. E/W Vul.

♠ 32	♠ A1064	♠ KQJ985
♥ 95	♥ AJ62	♥ 1074
♦ KJ95	♦ 832	♦ 64
♣ AQ1096	♣ K8	♣ 75
	♠ 7
	♥ KQ83
	♦ AQ107
	♣ J432

If North opens 1♣/1♦ East has an easy 2♠ overcall (or 1♠ if you are of a nervous disposition). After that N/S should be able to find a route to 4♥. Maybe South will double and then go on to 4♥ when North bids the suit.

If East leads the ♠K (and what could be more natural?) declarer wins, ruffs a spade and plays a club. Say West wins and returns a trump. Declarer wins in dummy, plays a club to the king, ruffs a spade high, draws trumps and plays a diamond to the ten. West wins, but will be left with ♦K9 ♣Q10 and have no way to prevent ten tricks being scored.

However, West might try (I could say should try) bidding 2♣/3♣ over South's double. Now East can lead a club and West wins and returns the suit, removing a vital entry to the North hand.

I expect the field to reach 4♥.

More than half of those who do will make it when a spade is led.

Board 26. Dealer East. All Vul.

♠ AJ8	♠ Q932	♠ K74
♥ Q1097	♥ 42	♥ 5
♦ AK	♦ J7543	♦ Q1096
♣ J1072	♣ 65	♣ AKQ43
	♠ 1065
	♥ AKJ863
	♦ 82
	♣ 98

XXII Madeira Bridge Festival

E/W can make 6♣, but how many will bid it in these days where a 1♣ opening can be based on almost any number of clubs.

If South overcalls 2♥ (echoing the theme of the previous deal) what should West do? If you double and partner bids 3♣ are you going to go past 3NT? If partner rebids 3♦ does that promise real clubs (and you still have to decide if you should be looking for a slam).

I'll go for less than half the field reaching 6♣.

Defensive Tests

Mark Horton

One of the many great things about the Madeira Festival is the fact that people are happy to tell you about the deals, regardless of the result. These two from the warm-up event were defensive tests that were difficult to pass – indeed one of them proved to be nigh on impossible.

Pass	2♠	All Pass

East led a top diamond and continued with two more rounds of the suit, West winning and switching to a spade. When declarer played low East won with the jack and returned the ♥3. Declarer put in the jack and took West's queen with the king. Sensing that the ♠K was off-side declarer cashed the ♠A and exited with a spade. Now East had an easy looking exit with the last diamond, but watch what happened:

Declarer ruffed and played off his trumps. When the last one hit the table this was the position:

♠ —	♠ Q	♠ —
♥ 109	♥ 72	♥ —
♦ —	♦ —	♦ —
♣ KJ	♣ A	♣ 8753
N W E S
♠ —	♠ —	♠ —
♥ A	♥ —	♥ —
♦ —	♦ —	♦ —
♣ Q106	♣ —	♣ —

East and dummy threw clubs, but West was the victim of a criss-cross squeeze. Whichever suit he unguarded would allow declarer to cash the relevant ace and then return to his other ace to cash a winner. East could have broken up the position by switching to a club at the end.

14 pairs recorded +110 - did they all make 2♠ this way?

Board 8. Dealer West. None Vul.

♠ 54	N W E S	♠ AKJ
♥ 7		♥ J95
♦ 1098		♦ K7532
♣ A876432		♣ 109

West	North	East	South
Castellani	German	Di Sacco	Winkel
3♣	3NT	Pass	4NT
All Pass

East leads the ♣5 and you win with your ace, declarer following with the queen.

XXII Madeira Bridge Festival

What do you do now?

I was given this hand as a problem - this is how I reasoned:

Declarer has two club tricks and at least three spades, because even if he is missing the queen, the finesse is working. It's hard to calculate how many tricks declarer has in diamonds - on a bad day it could be as many as five.

There is not much point in playing a spade, so it's a question of choosing between the red suits. A heart might give us two quick tricks in the suit if partner has the ♥AQ, but otherwise we might only get one in hearts, as partner holding say ♥KQ will be able to win the first round of the suit, but declarer will then have time to set up the diamonds.

If declarer has something like ♠Q983 ♥K1064 ♦AQ ♣KQJ then failing to switch to a heart will allow declarer to take eleven tricks, but on balance it feels better to switch to a diamond, hoping to set up a trick in that suit to go with any heart tricks partner may have.

The bad news is that partner does indeed have the ♥AQ. However, this was the full deal:

♠ 54	♠ Q98	♠ 107632
♥ 7	♥ K10642	♥ AQ83
♦ 1098	♦ A6	♦ QJ4
♣ A876432	♣ KQJ	♣ 5
	♠ AKJ
	♥ J95
	♦ K7532
	♣ 109

Partner's diamond holding is such that switching to that suit will hold declarer to nine tricks.

22 pairs played in no-trumps. One went down in 3NT, the others all recorded +430.

Before we leave this deal, suppose East ignores partner and leads a spade? Now as long as the defenders are careful (West must take the ♣A and play a second spade) declarer should be held to nine tricks.

Peter Fredin and Gary Gottlieb – winners of the Warm-Up Pairs

Nerd Interlude

188 pairs are taking part in the Open Pairs. I was desperately googling away to try and find an interesting fact about 188 but all I could find was that it is the number of semigroups of order 4. After further research as to what a semigroup is I was no wiser. Then I was heart-broken to find that if just two more pairs had signed up then the number 190 is immensely interesting in that it is the largest number that both it and its distinct divisors are all palindromes in Roman Numerals. Let us hope that next year we get 206 pairs because that is the smallest number that when written in full in English contains each of the five vowels exactly once!

All the results and the ongoing program of play are available on the website: www.bridge-madeira.com. You can use the QR code from your phone or tablet.

The Warm-Up Pairs – Continued

Fortune Told

In the Bulletin Room we now have a new gambling game, it is a bit like Mark Horton's predictions yesterday for the Warm-Up Pairs. In this game you also have to predict something which ought not to be random but is: that is 'To which floor will the lift actually go?' A good bet is the 'Full House' whereby you guess that the lift will initially descend to the bottom of the hotel where it hovers in a worrying manner before soaring to the top and then slowly and grudgingly opening its doors.

So how did Mark's predictions fare when all the results were available. His first case was that West would play in 5♠ after North intervened over the opening 4♠ bid:

After checking the 45 times the hand was played. The final contract of 5♠ was reached ten times, one of which was doubled. There were 28 cases of E/W being allowed to play in 4♠. The best result for N/S was when they were allowed to play in 6♣ undoubled for one off. The best result for E/W was 5♦ doubled by North, who perhaps did not play the cards to the best advantage when he failed by four tricks and thus Sakia Hermans and Ingeborg Slikker wrote 1100 in their plus column. If we are strict then our illustrious columnist was correct 20% of the time.

The next prognostication was North would play in 3NT after interference in ♥ by E/W:

In all of the 45 times the hand was played, all but 16 were played in 3NT. The contract failed twice, once inexplicably on the lead of a heart and once when Mike Reuser and Christine Winkel led the ♣J – congratulations. Thus the prediction was very close to being 100% in the cases where the contract was 3NT.

The final offering was that E/W would reach 4♥ and that South would not lead a club to prevent 12 tricks.

Firstly the final contract was 4♥ only twice, both occasions a heart was led one declarer making plus one, the other plus two. 25 times 3NT was reached, failing 5 times, making 8, plus one 11 and in one remarkable instance plus two. The other 18 cases were played in a part-score. It is difficult to know what score to award as the defence did not have much of a chance to prove or disprove the suggested line.

What do these statistics prove? Probably that you are better off guessing where the lift will arrive than the machinations of bridge players.
